

The Global Community for Young Leaders

One Young World Summit Munich, 2025

3 - 6 November 2025

About One Young World

The annual One Young World (OYW) Summit convenes the brightest young leaders from 190+ countries and 250+ organisations, working to accelerate social impact. Delegates are selected either by OYW partners or through scholarships. Delegates participate in four transformative days of speeches, workshops and networking.

Throughout the Summit, Delegates are counselled by influential political, business, and humanitarian leaders such as Justin Trudeau, Arianna Huffington and Professor Muhammad Yunus, amongst many other global figures.

Once the Summit is over, Delegates graduate as OYW Ambassadors, returning to their workplaces and communities with the means and motivation to make a difference. They benefit from access to mentorship, funding, speaking opportunities and a global network of 17,000+ young leaders to accelerate and create new initiatives.

Since 2010, One Young World has helped over 500 businesses support and develop young leaders by providing the tools, the network, and the platform to address the world's most pressing issues - impacting the lives of 41.56 million people to date.

Ambassador Spotlight

Organisations grew and developed young Ambassadors who went on to create impactful projects after attending the Summit such as:

BMW GROUP PowerUp Jacob Hamer / Sabrina Kolbeck

As a pair, Jacob and Sabrina created the PowerUp battery initiative. It repurposes high-voltage batteries that are usually removed from car prototypes, and upcycles them to create energy storage blocks for under-resourced schools in low-income communities.

KLM The Sustainable Flight Challenge Robin Spierings

Robin leads the Sky Group's Sustainable Flight Initiative through her role in KLM's sustainability team. This project aims to open-source sustainability innovations to transform the aviation industry, through a challenge whereby 17 participating airlines compete to run their "most sustainable flight".

Roche AI Fairness Initiative Finn Janson / Marta Batlle

As data scientists at Roche, Finn and Marta are using AI to correct bias in datasets used for medical research, by generating synthetic data that is representative of underrepresented populations. The AI Fairness tool is designed to minimise risks in clinical treatments of adverse reactions for minority communities.
